

WILLIAM D. LEWIS | THE VINDICATOR

A calculating competition at YSU

Youngstown State University student Bradley Slabe, left, works on a problem during the sixth annual Integration Bee. The competition was Tuesday at the university. Integrals are a central concept of calculus. In the photo above, Matt Friend, left, and Tyler Johnston were among more than 50 YSU students who participated in the Integration Bee, an event sponsored by YSU's Mathematics and Statistics Department.